

A kitchen to be savored slowly in order to take in the many details including wooden fluted columns with Tuscan caps and base, custom wood hood with corbels and fluted pilasters, rope molding, custom island with corbels and bead board. The island also features an extra deep knee-well to ensure comfortable seating, and a corner prep sink to service the wine bar. Cherry cabinets with a warm Nutmeg finish continue the Traditional semi-formal theme seen throughout the home.

Design talent, strong service and alert job scheduling are but a few of the elements that allow Cameo Kitchens owner Karl Keul and staff to consistently produce high-quality kitchen designs. With 40 years experience in designing kitchens, bathrooms, offices, libraries and more, Karl has designed and remodeled kitchens for many luminaries in both political and corporate circles including Vice President, Dick Cheney and AOL founder, Jim Kimsey.

Attention to detail and total commitment to customer satisfaction have earned Cameo Kitchens a place among the most respected firms in Virginia and the Washington Metropolitan area. Most recently, Cameo Kitchens earned the distinction of Overall Excellence In Operating A Kitchen & Bath Dealership, an award presented by Kitchen & Bath Design News magazine. Cameo Kitchens also enjoys top ratings of both the Washingtonian and Luxury Homes magazines, and has been featured in numerous national publications.

At Cameo Kitchens an expert draftsman creates each hand-drawn conceptual design. Cameo Kitchens, not sub-contractors, accomplishes all installations. Karl Keul closely monitors every project. Cameo Kitchens uses only Honey Brook Custom Cabinets, hand-crafted in Honey Brook, Pennsylvania by skilled Amish and Mennonite craftsmen. The cabinets are available in oak, maple, birch, pine or cherry in many different finishes and colors. Since their establishment in 1985, Cameo Kitchens, Inc. has continuously been Honey Brook Custom Cabinets' highest volume dealer. The featured kitchen was designed by George Keul.
